

Can you give some advantages to living in the country despite some of the inconveniences?

There are benefits to country living that you won't find anywhere else.

There are always going to be some trade-offs, like having to drive two hours just to go to work or meet your friends who still live downtown. On the other hand, if you can't get enough of green meadows and big blue skies, the benefits of country living may just outweigh the negatives.

Always Adverbs of Frequency Often

Usually

Sometimes Rarely Seldom Never

Going to Will Gunna

Like As For example For instance Such as

Have to Be required to

Drive/drove/driven Travel Commute

Just Only Merely Simply

Meet/met Get together with Drop by Go see

Friend Pal Buddy Chum Acquaintance

Still Until now

On the other hand But Nonetheless

Nevertheless Then Still Yet However

Can't get enough of Love Adore Like
Enjoy

Meadow Field Pasture

Outweigh Offset Surmount Be greater than Prevail over