

Cleaner air

The further out into the country you get, the more your air quality improves. Researchers have a few ideas for why this might be, including less pollution, greater abundance of trees and grass.

Pollution in more heavily-populated areas comes not only from a lack of greenery, but also tiny yet harmful particles released into the air.

Heavily Greatly Densely

Populate Inhabit Settle

Area Part Zone Region

Lack of Absence Deficiency

Greenery Foliage Vegetation Plants

Flora

Also Likewise Similarly Correspondingly

Tiny Minute Small Little Teeny
Diminutive Miniscule Wee

Harmful Dangerous Unsafe Toxic
Poisonous

Particle Atom Element

Release Free Discharge Emit Excrete
Ooze Leak Exude Radiate Squirt
Produce